THRIVING THROUGH SPORT: THE TRANSFORMATIVE IMPACT ON GIRLS' MENTAL HEALTH

Visibility & Portrayal

Last updated: April 30, 2024

Morgan Powell

This report examines the relationship between girls' sport participation and mental health. The data provides evidence that in high quality sport settings, playing sports can help lower depression and anxiety and enhance peer relationships. The study helps to identify the aspects of the sport setting that drive these outcomes, including levels of autonomy, coach relationships and more. Policy and practice recommendations that demonstrate how they can be applied in the field.
